David Zafer

Musical Director, Founder and Conductor of the University of Toronto Chamber Orchestra

Born in England, David A. Zafer won a scholarship to enter London's Royal College of Music at age nine. Arriving in Canada at age thirteen, Zafer studied with Elie Spivak at the Royal Conservatory of Music where he continued to win scholarships and awards.

David Zafer has worked with such renowned artists as Oscar Shumsky, Glenn Gould, Leonard Rose, William Primrose and Jose-Luis Garcia. As a performer, his career has spanned a full spectrum of engagements from Associate Concertmaster, Concertmaster and guest soloist with the Toronto and Baltimore Symphony Orchestras, the Hart House Orchestra, the Stratford Festival Orchestra and the National Ballet of Canada Orchestra to chamber group recitals at the Marlboro Festival, the Stratford Festival, solo recitals and tours throughout North America and Europe. He is frequently heard in broadcasts and he has recorded for CBC, RCA, London Records, Columbia and Deutsche Grammaphon.

David Zafer has focused on developing young Canadian musicians. Since 1966, he has been a Professor of Violin at the Faculty of Music, University of Toronto. Many of his graduates now hold major positions in orchestras, chamber groups and teaching institutions around North America and Europe.

Zafer frequently gives masterclasses at universities and conservatories across Canada and the USA. He has been a juror at the Strathclyde International Violin Competition in Glasgow and a guest faculty member at the Menuhin School in Surrey, England, at the Banff Centre, School of Fine Arts in Alberta and is the Artistic Director of the Courtney Youth Music Centre in British Columbia. He has served as performance coach for the National Youth Orchestra and the Canadian Festival of Youth Orchestras. While on sabbatical leave in 1993-94, Professor Zafer was Guest Clinician and Conductor at the Reina Sofia School in Pozuelo, Spain. He also directed a European String Seminar in Budapest, Hungary and conducted masterclasses at the University of British Columbia and Rice University in Houston, Texas.

Active as an orchestra conductor, David Zafer has been Director of the Canadian Chamber Orchestra at the Banff Centre and is currently Principal Conductor of the University of Toronto Chamber Orchestra and the Toronto Symphony Youth Orchestra.
